

RUSSIAN SUCCESSES REVIVE PEACE TALK

SEEMINGLY INCREASE ANXIETY OF ITALIAN INTERVENTIONISTS

Russ Newspapers Seem Convinced That Hungary is Ready to Seek Peace—Pierce Battle Rages in West—Germans Recapture Village From Belgians.

London, April 9.—(10:45 p. m.)—The Russian successes in the Carpathian mountains, where the Austro-Germans are now said to control virtually all the important passes and are preparing for a descent on the southern slopes on to the plains of Hungary, have revived unfeigned talk of separate peace for Austria-Hungary and seemingly increasing anxiety on the part of the interventionists in Italy for their country to take up arms on the side of the allies and secure territory which they have failed to get in the negotiations through Germany with Austria.

Give Report Little Credence.

The Russian newspapers seem convinced that Hungary, if not the whole of the dual monarchy, is ready to seek peace and it is said that Emperor Francis Joseph has requested Pope Benedict to intervene in its behalf. Except in Italy, the neutral country most directly interested in this question, little credence is given this report although the opinion is expressed in military circles here that if Russia succeeds in overcoming the joint resistance of the Austro-German troops in the Carpathians, as she apparently has that of the Austro-Hungarian armies, Hungary at least would be ready to bring the war to an end as far as she is concerned.

However, the Russians have some way to go as yet before they reach the plains of Hungary and the Austro-German forces are placing every obstacle in their way.

The whole southern slopes of the mountains have been strongly fortified and troops are being poured into the region in dispute.

Both Sides Being Reinforced.

It is said there are now twenty-four Austrian and six German army corps facing the Russians and that more are on the way. On the other hand the Russians are still bringing up reserves and according to the Austrian report of tonight they are attacking without regard for the loss of human life.

The British military critics express the greatest admiration for the manner in which the Russians have handled the Carpathian campaign. Their advance between Polkna and Bartfeld, they say squeezed the Austrians out of the Dukla pass, that from Dukla squeezed them out from Mezolaboroz and from west to east the passes are in the hands of the Russian emperor's troops. The critics contend that the Austro-Germans must now return from east Galicia and Bukovina or they will find themselves cut off.

Fierce Battle in West.

Just as fierce a battle but on a smaller scale is going on in the west between the Meuse and the Moselle. There the French are persisting in their offensive against the Germans, and, according to the Paris reports, continue to make progress. The French report however is at direct variance with the reports from Berlin, which announce that all the French attacks have been repulsed with heavy losses. The French are incessantly bombarding St. Mihiel, the point of the wedge they are to force out, and at the same time are attacking the two sides of the wedge with infantry and artillery in an endeavor to reach the roads which lead from St. Mihiel to Metz. If the progress already is as great as the French claim it to be, these roads should now be almost within reach of the French guns.

Germans Recapture Village.

The Germans have made an attack on the Belgian lines in northern France which was repulsed and have according to Berlin recaptured, from the Belgians the village of Drel Grachten, on the Yser, which has changed hands several times within a few days. Elsewhere so far as the public has been informed there has been no fighting worth mentioning. Nothing official has been forthcoming regarding a reported naval engagement off the Norwegian coast and the news from the Dardanelles grows less as the time shortens for the anticipated new attack there.

The submarines appear to have become less active. Incoming steamers report having seen some of these craft but no vessels are reported to have been sunk by them.

An authoritative denial has been received from The Hague here yesterday that the relations between Holland and Germany had reached the breaking point.

BI-STATE WILL PLACE TEAM IN ROCKFORD.

Rockford, Ill., April 9.—The Bi-State League will operate a team in Rockford regardless of public sentiment according to President Parsons who arrived here today to make arrangements for the transfer of the Racine, Wis. baseball club to this city.

President Parsons endeavored to secure the baseball park of the Rockford association but failing that purchased options on two other sites.

GIVE FINAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR INTERMENT OF GERMAN RAIDER

Propelling Machinery and Armament Will Be Disabled by Removal of Parts—Prescribe Limits For Parole of Crew.

Norfolk, Va., April 9.—The German Auxiliary Cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich was interned late today at the Norfolk navy yard, where she will remain until the end of the European war. Tugs and steamers in Hampton Roads blew their sirens in salute as she slowly steamed away from Newport News and took her berth near the historic frigate Constellation.

Daniels Issues Instructions.

Washington, April 9.—Final instructions were given today by Secretary Daniels to Rear-Admiral Beatty, commander of the Norfolk navy yard, for the internment of the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich and her officers and crew. The orders were as follows: "Upon arrival of Prinz Eitel at yard, address letter to Captain, stating conditions of internment based on president's proclamation of neutrality and request his written acceptance of terms. Propelling machinery and armament should be disabled by removal of parts that will render inoperative, radio should be dismantled and not operated during internment. Captain should give pledge for himself, officers and crew not to commit any unauthorized act and not to leave limits prescribed in paroles. Officers and crew to be domiciled on ship.

"Grant permission to captain and officers to visit, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Newport News and Old Point at will on general parole, also give them permission to proceed to cities outside those limits on temporary leave on special request in each case. Authorize commanding officer to send ashore limited liberty parties of crew at your discretion giving his parole for return of party in each case.

"Limits of liberty for crew to be Portsmouth, Norfolk, Newport News and Old Point.

"For officers and crew consider Norfolk to include in Virginia Beach and other shore resorts."

SEEK TO STOP ANNUAL MEETING OF ROCK ISLAND STOCKHOLDERS

Three Minority Stockholders File Bill in U. S. District Court, Seeking Injunction.

Chicago, April 9.—Three stockholders of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway filed a bill in the United States district court here today seeking an injunction restraining stockholders of the road from holding the annual meeting scheduled for April 12th.

The suit was the aftermath of a fight between minority and majority factions of stockholders of the railroad according to Jacob Newman, attorney for the petitioners, Nathan E. Amster of Boston and Eric Keppelmann and Ruby Vale of Philadelphia. In their bill the three stockholders alleged they had been unable to obtain a list of the stockholders until ten days ago and that the majority faction headed by William H. Moore, James H. Moore and Daniel G. Reid have been obtaining proxies since January.

MANUFACTURERS NAME COMMITTEE TO WORK WITH TRADE COMMISSION

CHICAGO, April 9.—The Illinois Manufacturers' association has appointed a committee to work with the federal trade commission, it was announced today by S. M. Hastings, acting president of the Illinois organization. The resolution read:

"In keeping with the spirit manifested thus far by the federal trade commission toward the business interests of the country and in support of the action taken by the chamber of commerce of the United States, the Illinois Manufacturers' association has appointed a committee to co-operate, work with and help in any way it can to foster this spirit. We trust the other organizations throughout the country will do likewise.

"The Illinois Manufacturers' association took an active interest in the proposed federal trade commission legislation when it was pending in congress and sent a committee to Washington to discuss with the members of both houses the features of the bill.

Charles Piez of Chicago was named chairman of the committee.

ITALIAN INTERVENTIONISTS PLAN GREAT MEETING FOR SUNDAY

ROME, via Paris, April 9.—(19:35 p. m.)—Political parties favorable to Italy's immediate intervention in the war, comprising democrats, radicals, reformists, socialists and nationalists, have arranged a great meeting to be held Sunday through out Italy in an endeavor to bring about the participation of the country in the conflict.

The Courriere D'Italia comment today on the event, says that it has assumed the character of a warning to the monarchy, since the national league, which arranged the meeting, adopted a resolution containing this sentence: "If, after long waiting, there are dissensions no matter of what nature a profound political upheaval is inevitable."

DRAW IN CLOSER TO CARRANZA TRENCHES

ONE DETACHMENT OF VILLA TROOPS EXCHANGES SHOTS WITH GARRISON

American Flag is Fired on From Mexican Side of Border—Obregon Says Villa is Fleeing Toward Alamo—Carranza Rejects Proposal.

Brownsville, Tex., April 9.—Villa troops investing Matamoros drew in closer to the Carranza trenches today and Villa outposts found shelter in the brush a quarter to half a mile in front of the defenses. One detachment crept even closer, exchanging rifle shots with the Garrison without apparent damage to either side. The second brigade of Villa troops, about 1,200 men, left General Rodriguez' headquarters to-day and circled south of Matamoros. Staff officers said this brigade expected to close the southern entrance to Matamoros.

An American flag, carried by a Mexican-American ranchman on the American side of the river, was fired on from the Mexican side by men concealed in the brush. The ranchman was piloting a party of newspaper men to a ferry and the flag was intended for use in the boat. The party by mistake appeared on the river bank opposite the skirmish lines and hoisted the flag for protection. Not more than half a dozen bullets were fired at them before they gained cover.

There was no flying in either direction today. It was reported at the Villa camp that two American aviators, Farnum Fish of Los Angeles and M. McGuire of Chicago, are coming to fly the Villa aeroplane over Matamoros.

Announces Flight of Villa.

Douglas, Ariz., April 9.—"Have satisfaction to advise that Doreta Arango, alias Francisco Villa, a shameful defeat inflicted upon him by our troops here, is fleeing toward Alamo with 18 military trains, five of them loaded with wounded. More than 2,000 Villa dead were burned."

This was a telegram dated Celaya received today by General Elias Calles, the Sonora Carranza leader, from General Alvaro Obregon.

"Villa," the message continued, "says his defeat was due to his regard for humanitarian sentiments. Hope that in future these sentiments will be more active in him."

Indicate Defeat of Villa.

El Paso, Tex., April 9.—It was indicated tonight by reports from Villa territory that the Villa forces had been defeated in the first encounter with the Obregon army between Queretaro and Irapuato. A telegram signed by Villa was sent from Irapuato showing that he had returned to the main group of his troops were entrenched at El Guaje, 20 miles north of Celaya, an important railroad town, which Villa said had been occupied by Obregon.

Says Effort Was Unsuccessful.

Washington, April 9.—General Villa telegraphed his representative here, Enrique C. Llorente from Celaya tonight that General Obregon's forces had made an unsuccessful effort to break through his lines but that no decisive action had been fought.

Carranza Rejects Proposals.

Washington, April 9.—General Carranza has finally notified the United States government through Consul Silliman that he cannot agree to the neutralization of either Mexico City or the railroad from the capital to Vera Cruz. To both of these suggestions made by the state department the Villa-Carranza authorities had given their consent.

FRENCH CIVILIAN PRISONERS RETURN FROM GERMANY IN RAGS

Dictator General of American Relief Clearing House in Paris Tells Condition of Prisoners.

New York, April 9.—There are now in France 600,000 French and 200,000 Belgian refugees from the war zone. French civilian prisoners from Germany are returning at the rate of 10,000 a week and are virtually in tatters, says a letter from H. O. Beatty, director general of the American relief clearing house in Paris to the headquarters of the organization here.

"The condition of the refugees is so painful," says the letter, "that it is impossible to give an adequate description of their sufferings, but if the situation of the returning civilian prisoners is infinitely worse. These prisoners are returning at the rate of about ten thousand a week in rags, almost naked and half starved. Sufficient stress cannot be laid on the urgency of providing clothing of all kinds, particularly warm underclothing and shoes."

ATTACK GERMAN SUBMARINE.

London, April 10.—(3:45 a. m.)—Discussing reports in circulation of a cannonade in the North Sea yesterday the Morning Post's Christiania correspondent says: "The Norwegian newspapers conclude that a German submarine was observed and pursued by a British cruising squadron and that it was either disabled or sunk."

War News Summarized

Repulses of the Germans at various points in France, the taking of Les Eparges, an important strategic point on the road toward their objective, Metz, and the capture of trenches are announced in the latest French official report of the warfare in the west, while Petrograd reports that in the Carpathians the Russians are in the possession of the entire principal chain of mountains, excepting one hill.

The Germans, in an earlier statement outlining the course events in the west, declared that in the region between the Meuse and Moselle, where Les Eparges is situated and where sanguinary fighting has been in progress for several days, the French charges were absolutely without success and their losses were heavier than those of the Germans.

Heavy losses in men are being incurred on both the French and Carpathian fronts. Paris says that in the forest of Montmorency fifteen German attempts to retake trenches captured from them were repulsed and that heaps of German bodies lay upon the ground afterward, while in Champagne the Germans were driven down in a similar offensive movement.

Vienna makes no denial of Petrograd's claim to further successes in the Carpathians, but says the Russian frontal attacks are being made without regard to loss of life and that high heaps of dead or wounded mark the battlefield.

In addition to Les Eparges the French claim the capture of some 600 feet of ground in the forest of Ajilly and to have retaken trenches from the Germans north of Beausejour. From the French and German reports the viciousness of the fighting is indicated by the announcement that there have been artillery and infantry engagements, hand to hand fighting, the sapping of trenches and the throwing of incendiary and asphyxiating bombs.

FUTURE MOVEMENTS OF JOHNSON CONTINUE TO BE UNCERTAIN

Indications Are That He Will Be Compelled to Remain in Cuba for an Indefinite Length of Time.

Havana, April 9.—The future movements of Jack Johnson, the former heavy-weight champion, continue to be uncertain. There are indications that he will be compelled to remain in Cuba for an indefinite length of time.

On Wednesday Johnson requested the American legation to issue a passport for him, alleging that this was to replace one provided by the American ambassador at London last September which had been lost or stolen since the pugilist's arrival in Cuba.

The secretary of the legation here issued the passport in the absence of William E. Gonzales, United States minister to Cuba who disappeared of the action.

Mr. Gonzales demanded and received from Johnson the passport in question whereby the action of the secretary of the legation was annulled.

Further the American minister received an order from Secretary Bryan to refuse a passport to the pugilist on the ground that Johnson is a fugitive from justice under the laws of the United States. Johnson is now said to be barred from entrance into virtually all European countries and apparently his only alternative is to remain here or attempt to reach some South American republic.

No injunction has yet been issued to prevent the showing in Cuba of certain pictures of last Monday's championship fight which Johnson claims were taken by a "movie snapper" who eluded the officials of the contest. Johnson made application for an injunction yesterday.

SAYS WOMEN AND CHILDREN WERE TREATED DREADFULLY BY KURDS

Wife of Missionary in Persia Writes of Atrocities Committed When City of Meendab Was Burned.

Los Angeles, April 9.—Children were thrown into the ice cold river and the women were treated dreadfully, when the Kurds captured and burned the city of Meendab, Persia, according to a letter written by the wife of Elder Frank F. Oster, a Seventh Day Adventist missionary in Persia, to friends here.

When this news reached Maragha, a neighboring city, wrote Mrs. Oster, nearly all the Christians fled through the snow over the mountains. Mrs. Oster rode on horseback with their fourteen months old baby while Oster led the animal.

"Many are dying from starvation," says Mrs. Oster. "We are not yet out of danger, for the Turks are strong near the boundary and with the Kurds to help we surely have something to fear. Just six miles from here 800 Kurds were killed and the ground was strewn with their bodies."

She said that after the Russians recaptured Tabriz they felt quite safe again.

HEAVY BUYING MARKS STOCK MARKET SESSION

SHOWS SIGNS OF GENERAL AWAKENING OF PUBLIC INTEREST

Transactions Aggregate Almost 1,300,000 Shares and Gains Extend from 7 to 3 1-2 Points in Leading Issues—Sweep Embraces All Classes.

New York, April 9.—With transactions aggregating almost 1,300,000 shares and gains extending from 3 to 7 1-2 points in leading issues, today's stock market was the most exciting and noteworthy of any day since July 30th last. On that date, which marked the issuance of Germany's ultimatum to Russia, the market was stirred into a state of feverish activity at the expense of values. Today's operations were all the other way, only a few of the unimportant stocks failing to share in the steady and steady advance. On the surface the market had the signs of a general awakening of public interest, due to a variety of favorable factors, including the statement of the treasury department which bore out unofficial advice of general domestic improvement. Another powerful influence was the persistent circulation of peace rumors, even though these met with prompt denial in high quarters.

Day Begins With Misgivings.

The day began with some misgivings because of spectacular movement of preceding session in Bethlehem Steel. That stock was comparatively inactive today, even though it added seven points to its credit. Soon after the opening a buying movement began in United States Steel which was maintained throughout the five hours, the stock rising only the barest fraction to 49 5-8 at first but soon responding to a wide and general demand, which carried it to 57 in the final dealings and with total dealing of 244,000 shares.

Embraces All Classes.

Reading was only second in importance to United States Steel with sales of 113,000 shares and a gain of 3 1-2. Union Pacific, Amalgamated Copper and other speculative favorites were next in order with extensive overruns at 3 to 5 1-2 point gains. As the buying of these shares gathered impetus, an inquiry for other industrials and railway shares ensued, until the upward sweep embraced stocks of all classes. The machinery of the exchange was tested to its utmost capacity in the final dealings, the ticker being at its usual time in recording closing quotations.

Negotiate Bank Loans.

Brokers remained on the floor long after the day's business had come to an end and many private settlements of "bear" accounts were said to have been made. Clerks and other employees of stock exchange houses remained down town until late in the evening, winding up the details of the day. Calls for margins were sent out to customers committed to the short side of the market and numerous bank loans were being negotiated to meet the increased speculative demands imposed by the greater activity.

ROCKEFELLER'S AUTO RUNS DOWN TWELVE YEAR OLD BOY

Oil Magnate Has Youth Taken to Physician and Later to Hospital—Accident Distresses Aged Capitalist.

Tarrytown, N. Y., April 9.—While John D. Rockefeller and a party of friends were going to West Point late today, their automobile struck George Edgar, 12 years old. Mr. Rockefeller had the car stopped at once and ordered his chauffeur and two trained nurses among his party to take the boy to the nearest physician who ordered him taken to a hospital. There it was said the boy suffered from serious bruises and cuts.

Mr. Rockefeller appeared distressed over the accident and notified the hospital authorities to do everything possible for the patient.

Playmates who were with the boy in the roadway at the time of the accident said Edgar ran in the way of the car which was not going fast.

Mr. Rockefeller abandoned the trip to West Point and returned to his home here.

CITE TREATY TO REMOVE DOUBT WHETHER PACT WAS STILL IN FORCE

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Citing of the treaty of 1828 in the note on the Frye case, it was learned from German sources tonight, were intended also to remove the doubt said to have existed in previous negotiations between the United States and Germany before the outbreak of the present war as to whether the act was still in force.

Under the provisions of the treaty Germany once objected to the enforcement of the five percent discount clause in the Underwood-Simmons tariff law by which goods carried in American bottoms were to be given a rebate. Similarly Germany claims a favored-nation treatment in the Canadian reciprocity act had been proclaimed or any other reciprocity treaties negotiated subsequently by the United States.

LETTER STATES COMMANDER OF F-4 EXPECTED DISASTER TO BOAT

Excerpt of Epistle to Brother States "I Expect the Whole Thing to go up in Smoke Any Time."

Los Angeles, Cal., April 9.—In a letter written at Honolulu, March 22nd, Lieut. Alfred Ede, the naval officer who was lost with his entire crew when the United States submarine F-4 disappeared off Honolulu Harbor, March 25th, told his brother here that "if the whole boat went up in smoke, I do not think I would be terribly astonished."

The Brother, Allison Ede, an employee of the Los Angeles city engineer's office, received the letter several days ago and an excerpt given out today contained the quotation:

"I expect the whole thing to go up in smoke any time."

The letter in full reads as follows:

Honolulu, March 22, 1915. "This is not a very exciting place, but enough happens to the boat to at least keep up interest. I came back from Pearl Harbor Thursday where I have been for ten days having a new motor put in. Previous to that we had a hydrogen explosion in the battery engine, break-downs, etc. So there is something doing all the time. Take a mere trifle like today—down fifty feet and no bottom below, and water trickling in through one of the valves. That does not give us a thrill any more. In fact if the whole boat should vanish in smoke I don't think I would be terribly astonished."

Was in Good Condition.

Washington, April 9.—Secretary Daniels declared tonight that the last reports to the navy department as late as March 1st, showed the ill-fated submarine F-4 to be in good condition. Naval officers and department officials read with interest Los Angeles press dispatches saying a brother of Lieutenant Ede who commanded the submarine when she went to the bottom in Honolulu Harbor, March 25th, had received a letter written two days before the tragedy in which the lieutenant said he expected his vessel to "go up in smoke any time."

No one was inclined to discuss the letter.

Officials said the truth about the boat's condition at the time she started on her last cruise probably would not be known until she was raised and examined.

TESTIMONY AT HEARING SHOWS HARRIMAN WAS LABOR'S FRIEND

J. W. Kline States He Believes Disastrous Strike of 1911 Would Not Have Taken Place Had Harriman Lived.

Chicago, April 9.—E. H. Harriman, it appeared in testimony given before the United States commission on industrial relations today, was a friend of labor.

S. H. Grace of Omaha, business agent of the International Association of Machinists on the Union Pacific, testified that when trouble arose on that road in 1902, Mr. Harriman telegraphed that it was his first trouble and that if he could avoid it, it would be his last.

J. W. Kline, general president of the International association of Blacksmiths and Helpers testified: "Mr. Harriman felt for the women and children who would suffer by a strike and he made concessions which resulted in the settlement of the troubles of 1902. I feel that had he lived the disastrous strike of 1911 on the Harriman lines would not have taken place."

LARGE NUMBER OBTAIN WORK THROUGH GOVERNMENT AGENTS

WASHINGTON, April 9.—First reports on the operation of the federal employment bureau inaugurated recently by the department of labor in co-operation with the agriculture department show that during the months of February and March 1,245 persons obtained work through the government agents.

In view of the fact that the work of the bureau has not yet been completely systematized on the national wide basis intended the results so far are considered most satisfactory to the officers in charge. Reports from field agents engaged in employment work are reaching the department of labor daily from every section of the country. A summary of these, announced today shows that 327 persons were directed to employment in February and 916 in March.

WILL OPPOSE DUNNE'S DEEP WATERWAY PLAN

CITIZENS OF ILLINOIS RIVER VALLEY TELL GOVERNOR OF THEIR STAND

Advocate Extensive Improvements of the Illinois & Michigan Canal as a Substitute—Governor and Party Will go to Peoria for Meeting Tonight.

Ottawa, Ill., April 9.—Citizens of the Illinois river valley, between Morris and Ottawa told Governor Dunne and the members of the waterways committees of the legislature today why they would oppose the administration's plan for a deep waterway connecting Chicago with the Mississippi river. The plan as outlined in the Igoe bill, is now before the legislature.

Manufacturing industries would have to be shifted; large sections of valuable bottom lands would be inundated and extensive changes made in the sewage systems if the administration plan was carried out, the Illinois river valley people told the governor.

Advocate Substitute Plan.

As a substitute plan extensive improvement of the Illinois & Michigan canal were advocated.

Under the Igoe bill it is proposed to expend approximately $1,000,000 dredging the canal bed from Joliet to Channahon. Engineers familiar with the project estimated that the canal from Joliet to LaSalle could be made serviceable for approximately $1,500,000.

The manufacturers from the state of Illinois and other middle west states would have a quicker and cheaper means of transporting their goods to the Pacific coast and the entire Mississippi Valley would be more closely connected were pleased advanced here tonight by Governor Dunne in support of the proposed waterway which would connect Chicago with the Mississippi river.

Guests of Business Men.

The governor and the members of the waterway committees arrived here tonight on their trip over the route of the proposed waterway and were guests of the Ottawa Business Mens' association.

The party arrived here tonight from Joliet after having made stops at Channahon, Marseilles and Morris.

Governor Dunne urged that the legislature pass the Igoe bill, which provides for the building of the proposed waterway at an approximate cost of $3,500,000. Under the provisions of the Igoe bill an eight foot channel would be built from Joliet to LaSalle. Such a channel would connect at Joliet with the Chicago Drainage canal and at LaSalle with the Illinois river, thereby creating a direct water route between Chicago and New Orleans and then by way of the Panama canal to San Francisco.

Will Be of Advantage to All.

"The bill before the legislature," said Governor Dunne "provides for tolls to cover the cost of the operation of the waterway and interest upon the bonds which would have to be issued. After the waterway is completed, in my judgment, it will not be necessary to levy another dollar. The waterway will be of advantage not only to the cities along its route but to every citizen and taxpayer in the state. The market prices of all the produce which comes from the farms, such as wheat, corn, hay, livestock and dairy products, are made in the city of Chicago, the greatest market center of the state and if this waterway will have the effect of reducing freights to and from Chicago it will increase the values of every bushel of wheat and corn and every animal sold by the farmers from their farms.

"On the contrary, if we fail to recognize the great opportunities which will come to the manufacturers and producers of this state, in my judgment, competition with the producers in the east, where they have the benefit of transportation, will be disastrous to the producers of the state of Illinois and the Mississippi Valley."

Will Go to Starved Rock.

Tomorrow morning the governor and legislators will go by boat to Starved Rock where it is proposed to construct a massive dam and locks. From Starved Rock the trip will be made to LaSalle by special train. At LaSalle the party will board a river steamer and go to Peoria where the trip will be concluded with a big mass meeting and public hearing.

FIGHT TEN FAST ROUNDS.

Kansas City, Mo., April 9.—Joe Rivers of Los Angeles, and Frankie Burns of Oakland, Calif., lightweights, fought ten fast rounds to a draw here today. A majority of the newspaper critics at the ringside gave Burns a shade in the second, eighth and ninth, with a big lead in the sixth. Rivers was given the fourth and tenth, while the others were even.

EARNINGS SHOW BIG INCREASE.

Panama, Apr. 9.—The earnings of the Panama canal in March were the largest of any month since it was opened. This exceeded by about $140,000 the previous record made in January. March earnings were $550,784. The receipts in January were $419,037.

The Jitney Service.

Des Moines has sixty-eight jitneys on the main routes. They haul about 12,000 people a day and average $12 per jlt. In most cities the majority of jitney business is new transportation, handling people who would otherwise walk. What a wall from the street car companies is heard over the country.

Conditions Improving.

Business conditions in the United States are showing improvement, according to reports from national bank examiners made public Thursday night by the treasury department. Maine is said to be the only state in which real business depression exists. The present outlook throughout the country and the basic conditions are good. Retail trade is reviving and the crop prospects over the country are reported excellent. Confidence is being restored in the business world.

Friday's Stock Market.

Friday's stock market in New York was most exciting. Transactions aggregated almost 1,300,000 shares and gains extended from 3 to 7½ points in leading issues. The treasury department's statement which bore out unofficial advice of general domestic improvement and the persistent circulation of peace rumors, even though those met with prompt denial, were among the favorable factors which seemed to awaken the market to unusual action.

The Wheat Situation.

The figures issued by the Department of Agriculture showing winter wheat prospects indicate that the country may have a total winter and spring wheat yield of 919,000,000 bushels. Conditions surrounding the wheat situation in this country and in Europe well indicate that such a record breaking crop would meet a good market.

There is little fear that the farmer will get a sharply decreased price for his wheat, even if the war in Europe should end. The surplus wheat stocks in this country have been lowered as a result of the enormous exports since last fall. We are going to need an enormous yield this year for our own use.

The winter wheat yield, as estimated for April 1, is 619,000,000 bushels, compared to an estimate of 580,000,000 bushels on Dec. 1, 1914, while the harvest a year ago was 684,900,000 bushels.

This is surely a spring season that is offering the farmer every reason for looking cheerfully to the future.

A Friend of Labor.

Testimony given yesterday before the United States commission on industrial relations again bears witness to the friendship of E. H. Harriman, the great railroad magnate, bore the laboring man. It was related in the testimony that in making concessions to the men which would bring the strike of 1902 to an end, Harriman did so, on account of the women and children who would have suffered by the strike. J. W. Kline, general president of the International Association of Blacksmiths and Helpers made the statement at the hearing yesterday that it was his belief that had Harriman lived the disastrous strike of 1910 of the Harriman lines would not have taken place. The world needs more men of the Harriman spirit today, men who look beyond their own selfish interests in business life, men who have feelings for the other fellow and can see both sides of a question.

Pankhurst, pastor of the Madison Square Presbyterian church, will be placed before the presbytery of New York at its meeting next Monday. It was stated tonight. STATES CONDITIONS IN SERBIA GROWING WORSE
London, April 10.—(3:47 a. m.)—The Athens correspondent of the Daily Chronicle sends a statement by Captain E. N. Bennett of the British Red Cross commission to Serbia who declares the conditions in Serbia are growing worse and that the percentage of deaths from typhus is frightful. At Monastir for example the captain found 3,000 typhus patients with only ten doctors to attend them. He says that the death rate there is between fifty and sixty percent.

AN INVITATION
An elderly farmer drove into town one day and hitched his team to a telegraph post.

"Here," exclaimed the burly policeman. "You can't hitch there."

"Can't eh?" shouted the irate farmer. "Well, why have you got a sign up 'Fine for hitching'?"

RUSSEL ADMITS HE MAY BE IN RACE FOR GOVERNOR

State Treasurer Boomed for Office Says Its Early to Make Announcement.

Springfield, April 9.—State Treasurer Andrew Russel, who was boomed for governor at a meeting of Chicago Republican leaders in Chicago last night, admitted today that he may be a candidate.

"I may be a candidate for governor but it is too early for me to make official announcement," he said. "I am busy now getting my office in proper shape. The mention I received at Chicago was a surprise to me. It was very flattering and I appreciate it, but I am not ready to say what I will do."

Russel Strong Man.
Mayor-Elect Thompson of Chicago is faced by the embarrassment of having two particular friends in the race for governor, Col. Frank O. Lowden and Col. Frank L. Smith. The lining up of the organization for Russel was a surprise.

Mr. Russel has made two successful campaigns for state treasurer, being elected last fall for the second time. He has a wide acquaintance and it is believed will encounter no opposition from any element in the Republican organization.

In fact the assurance is given that the main purpose of the slate making was not to build up a new political machine but to lay the foundation for a harmonious campaign before the primaries next year. The same spirit moved the conference in selecting names for county offices also. It is not believed that any of the persons proposed will be antagonized with the organization.

CHICAGO EMPLOYERS ADOPT DRASTIC LOCKOUT ORDER

CHICAGO, April 9.—The building contractors' employers' association adopted a lockout today directed at every union which allows its wage agreement with the employers to lapse.

Leaders in the local labor disturbances declared the action was the most drastic in Chicago since the lockout order of 1910.

The order affects the sheet metal workers, the glaziers, sign painters, interior finishers and plasterers which, with the exception of the sheet metal workers are allied with the building trades council. The order contained a provision that any member who violates an agreement entered into by his union automatically causes the order to operate against the union and district council.

ADMIRAL COWLES URGES GREATER PREPAREDNESS OF NAVY FOR WAR

NEW YORK, April 9.—Rear-Admiral William S. Cowles urged greater preparedness of the navy for war at a meeting here tonight of the New York Genealogical and Biographical society. Admiral Cowles suggested that every young man in the United States should be obliged to spend a few days each year in the service of the navy.

Col. Edwin F. Glenn, chief of staff to Major General Wood said: "The navy is our first line of defense and when that fails the American army is so small that God help us."

COMPLAINS NOTHING HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED BY PROTESTS

German Note Intimates United States Has Virtually Acquiesced in British Order-in-council.

Washington, April 9.—Germany has sent to the United States government a note complaining that the latter has accomplished nothing in its diplomatic correspondence with the allies to obtain for American exporters the right to ship foodstuffs to the civilian population of a belligerent country. The communication intimates also that the United States has virtually acquiesced in the British order-in-council prohibiting commerce with Germany.

In view of these considerations, the German government calls attention to the fact that the allies daily are obtaining large shipments of arms and ammunition from dealers in the United States and declares that the American government, while insisting on its legal right to ship arms to belligerents, does not with equal energy pursue its right to ship foodstuffs and non-contraband articles to the civilian population of Germany.

The note urges that irrespective of the formal aspects of the question of shipping arms to belligerents the spirit of neutrality should be observed.

FAIL TO DISCOVER REASON FOR RUMORS OF WAR ON HOLLAND

THE HAGUE, via London, April 9.—(10:22 p. m.)—The closest inquiries made today in diplomatic, ministerial and military circles, failed to discover the reason for the alarming rumors printed yesterday in London newspapers relative to the possibility of hostilities between Holland and Germany or for the charging of high insurance premiums. Nothing appears to have arisen recently at any point along the frontier which would cause Holland to cease to maintain her position of strictly neutrality.

TAKE STEPS TO SECURE RELEASE OF SHIPMENTS FROM GERMANY

Merchants Are Invited to Submit Proof That Goods Were Paid for Before March 1.

Washington, April 9.—American merchants and importers have been invited by the state department in a circular letter made public tonight to send in for submission to the British embassy proofs that goods purchased in Germany and now in transit or awaiting shipment were paid for before March 1. Assurances have been given by the British embassy that on the production of such proof goods will not be interfered with by the allied warships.

Robert F. Rose and William B. Flemming, foreign trade advisers of the department, are handling this business. They are acting unofficially since they cannot commit the government to any recognition of the legality of the British blockade order in council, but their informal co-operation has been accepted by the embassy officials.

It is understood that vast quantities of merchandise, including dye stuffs, lack of which American textile factories are on the verge of shutting down, will be released for shipment as soon as the proofs of their purchase before March 1st are submitted.

REWARD CREW FOR RESISTING GERMAN SUBMARINE ATTACK

LONDON, April 9.—(8:17 p. m.)—The government's intention to encourage merchantmen to resist or dodge submarine attacks is emphasized by an official announcement today that Captain John Richard Green of the Steamer Vokes, which was sunk off the Cornish coast on March 27, by the shell fire of a German submarine, has been granted a commission as lieutenant in the royal naval reserve and awarded the distinguished service cross. The other officers of the steamer have been given gold watches and each member of the crew has received three pounds ($15).

ROUND BARN POSSESSES THEORETICAL ADVANTAGES

Maximum Floor Space With Same Perimeter Obtained at Minimum Cost and Increase of Storage Space Because of Roof Height Some Gains Claimed.

(By K. J. T. Ekblaw, University of Illinois.)

A development in the direction of economic building construction is the round barn, examples of which in a more or less modified form can be found in almost every locality. The round barn possesses some theoretical advantages which make its design very attractive, but it is sometimes rather difficult to adapt these advantages to existing practical conditions. A number of very successful attempts have been made, however, and the resulting barns have proved to be quite efficient.

Some enthusiastic advocates of the round barn make such extravagant claims for it that it is very difficult to substantiate them. Some of the actually desirable features may be enumerated:

1. The round barn, especially when a silo is located at the center, possesses great strength on account of the mutual bracing effect resulting from the concentration of the framing timbers supporting the roof. The roof of the round barn is almost invariably of the self-supporting, plank frame type. In fact in the construction of the whole barn, this type of framing is employed.

2. Theoretically, maximum floor space with the same perimeter is obtained at a minimum of cost, since with the same perimeters in variously shaped figures, a circle gives the area.

3. Increased storage space is provided because of the height of the roof necessary to give it proper support. There may be other advantages of more or less degree of importance, depending upon the purpose for which the barn is used. It is in the interior arrangement of the floor devoted to stalls and bins that sometimes considerable difficulty is encountered. Unless the barn is very carefully planned, there is likely to be waste space and loss of efficiency in feeding and cleaning operations. The construction of round barns of large diameters is practically precluded by the inability to provide sufficient light when the interior stalls are located too far from the windows in the exterior wall.

Figure 1 shows the method of framing employed in a 60-foot round dairy farm. The plate, which is necessarily circular, is built up of six thicknesses of 1x6 on edge, the boards being put together so as to keep the joints well staggered; the purlin plate is constructed with a thickness equal to that of four boards. No posts are used, studs being used to support the walls and plate. Each pair of rafters are braced as shown in the illustration, and below the break in the roof an additional rafter is put in between each pair of regularly framed rafters, so that in the lower section of the roof there are twice as many rafters as in the upper section. The floor joists extend radially from the silo, as is shown in Figure 11, and have one interior support. By K. J. T. Ekblaw in "Farm Structure," Courtesy of Macmillan Co.

ALLEN F. AYERS IS NOW BANK PRESIDENT

Quincy Herald—"Allen F. Ayers of Denver and son-in-law of Mrs. E. B. Hamilton of this city and husband of a former Quincy girl, Miss Lucy Hamilton, has recently been accorded a high honor in Denver of which he is now a resident. At a meeting of the board of directors of the Federal National bank Tuesday, Mr. Ayers was elected president of the bank. The Federal National bank is one of the oldest and most solid institutions in Colorado and to be at its head is one of the greatest honors that could befall a business man.

Mr. Ayers is still a young man and is one of the youngest, if not the youngest bank president in the United States. He was formerly with the bank of F. G. Farrell & Co., of Jacksonville, Ill., and has been in Denver but a few years. That he has risen to such prominence and has been elected to such a position of trust in the short time he has been connected with the bank is indeed a signal honor. To those in Quincy who have known him as a progressive, honorable, high minded business young man, the honor seems but a just recognition of his worth and merit."

FIRST ANNUAL CONCERT FRIDAY BY J.H.S. BAND AND ORCHESTRA

Two-Part Program at David Prince School is Well Carried Out—Pupils Win Laurels in "Mrs. Oakley's Telephone," Clever Farce.

Little need be said in praise of the high school band and orchestra concert at David Prince auditorium Friday evening, as the skill and ability of each musician was evident from the first of the two-part program and the words of satisfied hearers pronounce this first annual event a complete success. After the musical program pupils of the high school pleased all with an able presentation of "Mrs. Oakley's Telephone" by Eulora Jennings. So laughable did the comedy become that the audience was quite taken aback with each new antic of Mary, the cook, and the thorny way of true love as the play approached a climax of surpassing cleverness. Fred W. Goodrick as director of the band and orchestra and Miss Jeanette Taylor had in charge the training for the play.

The members of the band are: William Bartlett, Harold Boyl, McKendree Blair, Byron Carpenter, John Claus, Harold Dunlap, William Faugust, Wayne Gibbs, Urie Govala, Denham Harney, Brooks Huber, Ernest LaBoiteaux, Eugene Milburn, Paul Morrison, Clifford Obermeyer, Russell Pinkerton, Leonard Potter, John Pyatt, Frank Robinson, Wilbur Rogers, Dewey Steber, Carl Spender and Byron Willerton. The orchestra members are: William Bartlett, Harold Boyl, Anna Frances Bradley, Earl Briscoe, Byron Carpenter, Jean Claus, Jean Coulter, Harold Dunlap, Grace Hoffman, Ernest LaBoiteaux, Eugene Milburn, Paul Morrison, Russell Pinkerton, Wilbur Rogers and Helen Sorrells.

ARGUE CLAIMS FOR ADDITIONAL PAY FOR CARRYING THE MAILS

More Than Eight Hundred Railroads are Interested in Pending Claims Approximating $35,000,000.

Washington, April 9.—On the outcome of arguments begun today before the supreme court depends whether the United States government must pay approximately $35,000,000 to railroads in additional pay for carrying the mails since 1907. Over 800 railroads are interested in the pending claims. Under statute passed in 1873, compensation for carrying the mails is based on the weight carried, ascertained quadrennially by actual weighing for a specific period. Owing to the fact that mails were not carried as a rule on Sundays then, Sunday was excluded in the selection of a divisor in ascertaining the average weight. In 1907, the postmaster general announced that in contracts thereafter to be made, Sundays would be included thus reducing the weight average and the railroad's compensation.

Attorney General Thompson for the government contended that the postmaster general had a right under the law to exercise his discretion in selecting the divisor. Jacob M. Dickinson, former secretary of war, and John G. Johnson of Philadelphia, for the railways, argued that the selection of a divisor excluding Sunday had been tacitly recognized by law so that the postmaster general could not change it.

DENY THERE IS ANY FOUNDATION FOR RUMORS OF PEACE OVERTURES

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Published reports that Germany had presented peace terms to the United States attracted attention today in official Washington but both Secretary Bryan and Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, denied that there was any foundation for such rumors.

"There is nothing definite or indefinite," said Mr. Bryan when asked about the peace talk, "and there has been nothing on any phase of the subject for a considerable time."

German embassy officials decline to comment on whether the peace terms as published represent Germany's views at present beyond saying that nothing authentic on the subject had been received.

GILMORE PREDICTS PROSPEROUS SEASON FOR FEDERAL LEAGUE

Goes to Kansas City to Watch Opening Game Today—Managers Claim Most of Teams Have Improved Greatly.

Chicago, April 9.—Predicting a prosperous season "the best so far" President James A. Gilmore left tonight for Kansas City, where tomorrow he will watch the opening game of the Federal League campaign. Reports received at the league headquarters here today were that fair weather and big crowds were expected at the openings at Chicago, where St. Louis plays; at Kansas City, whose opponent will be Pittsburgh; at Baltimore where the team that won the pennant for Indianapolis will represent Newark and at Brooklyn where Buffalo opens the season.

Most of the Federal League teams their managers claim have improved greatly over last year. St. Louis especially, President Gilmore says has increased in strength. Manager Fielder Jones having gathered a squad of veterans including Chaley Deal, who was a factor in the Boston Nationals winning the world's championship. A strong infield is the chief reliance of the Pittsburgh team but reports from Kansas City are not optimistic.

The Newark club's loss of Benny Kauff, the League's champion batter was recorded at headquarters as Brooklyn's gain and the addition of Jack Dalton, one of the Nationals' strong hitters last year, should help the offensive strength of Buffalo, it is said. In all departments, Manager Tinker claims to have helped the Chicago squad. In Jimmy Smith he says he has a shortstop whose excellence may result in the manager's adopting a utility role.

WEEK'S REPORTS ARE BEST NOTED FOR SOME TIME PAST

Sentiment is Bolstered by the Smart Uplift in Stock Market Prices—Idle Workmen are Less Numerous.

New York, April 9.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"This week's reports, trade and industrial, are the best noted for some time past, being in some respects the most favorable received since the spring of 1914. Sentiment is bolstered by the smart uplift in stock market prices; better weather has superinduced improvement in general lines or retail trade; foreign orders for machinery, tools, automobiles and numerous other manufactures make for capacity work in the enterprises thus benefited; operations on domestic account are steadily improving; idle workmen are less numerous; money is easy; weekly bank clearings are more encouraging; collections are a shade better in some centers and winter wheat crop conditions are good—as good, all things considered as a year ago at this date.

"The agricultural, as distinguished from the industrial south, still is depressed as regards current trade but other sections of the country including the east manifest signs of improvement though it must be conceded that better at the east is slow. At the soft coal mining regions there is some mention of improvement but operations are slow and in the lumber industry depression continues. Building has begun to improve but as yet this tendency is most manifest in the eastern half of the country. The arrival of growing weather has put a more favorable face upon crop reports. Winter wheat has been benefitted west of the Mississippi by warmer weather, but needs moisture east of the river.

"The entire crop is late in starting. "Better weather at the south has allowed of plowing and planting of cotton. Much land is going into sugar, rice, corn and potatoes in Louisiana, but despite the talk of reduced use of fertilizers, the feeling is growing that there will not be the wholesale reduction in cotton area that was earlier claimed."

BLOOMINGTON D. A. R. LOOKING FOR HOME

Letitia Green Stevenson Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, of Bloomington, held a very interesting meeting recently. Mrs. H. M. Rollins, regent, was in charge, and the usual business was transacted, reports showing all departments to be in an excellent condition.

It was reported that plans were under way for the securing of a permanent meeting place for the chapter. The report stated that of late a difficulty had arisen in obtaining homes for the holding of the meetings, as the chapter was growing so rapidly that space was too small to accommodate those who come, and she deemed it advisable to get a permanent place, then the chapter could hold all the meetings of whatever nature they desired there.

ILLEGAL KILLING OF MIGRATORY GAME

Department of Agriculture Will Continue to Prosecute Offenders.

Many of the press comments on the decision of the United States district court, rendered recently at Topeka, Kansas, holding that the Federal Migratory Bird Law is unconstitutional according to United States Department of Agriculture are erroneous and are apt to mislead the public concerning the real situation in this matter.

The Kansas decision like a former decision to the same effect in the eastern district of Arkansas, is limited in its operation solely to the district in which it was rendered. Neither decision settles or nullifies law, and the exact contrary has been held by the United States district court for South Dakota. The Arkansas case has been appealed to, and is now pending in the United States supreme court. The act of congress protecting migratory birds is effective until the supreme court finally decides the question of its constitutionality. In meantime it is incumbent on every law-abiding citizen to observe its provisions and the regulations. It is the duty of the department of agriculture to enforce this law and officials in charge will endeavor to do so as long as it is in force. Reports of violations will be carefully investigated and when sufficient evidence is secured they will be reported for prosecution. In this connection it should not be forgotten that an offender against this, as in case of other United States laws is subject to prosecution any time within three years from the date of the offence committed.

HISTORIC SCENE AT CLOSING OF GREAT CIVIL WAR

Half Century Passed Since Lee Surrendered to Grant at Appomattox.

Fifty years ago yesterday two great Americans met at Appomattox courthouse, in Virginia, and recorded one of the final chapters in the great struggle between the north and the south. In American fashion, General Robert E. Lee and Gen. Ulysses S. Grant shook hands, discussed the important business of the occasion, and wrote the important documents which established the terms of surrender of the famished forces of the southern leader.

In every city, town and hamlet in America today, the half-century anniversary of this truly great event is being observed. The fifty long years have removed the principals in the negotiations, both beloved in the north and south, and have assuaged the bitterness of defeat and the pride of victory into a united feeling that the ending of the terrible conflict was magnificent.

Occasion Was Sunday.

The 9th of April, 1865, fell on a Sunday. General Lee went to the conference accompanied by his military secretary, Early on that morning he had received the report of General Gordon, in command of the advancing wing, that the situation was hopeless. "There is nothing left for me but to go and see Grant, and I would rather die a thousand deaths," Gen. Lee is reported to have said. Correspondence looking to surrender had been exchanged since the evening of the 7th between the two generals, and Lee had proposed a point of meeting on the old Richmond stage road between the two picket lines.

General Lee's note reached Grant as he was riding along the wagon road near Appomattox court house. The northern general at once replied that he would push on to the point of meeting. The message reached Lee while the latter was sitting by the roadside near Appomattox Courthouse. Issuing orders to observe a truce, he hastened to a little brick house to await Grant. He was offered more commodious quarters in the McLean house, and it was there that the historic meeting took place.

When Grant entered, the two great generals shook hands cordially for several minutes. Their first conversation was of their meeting in Mexico, when both were in the same service. The staff of Gen. Grant then entered, and formed a background for the picture.

Grant and Lee were different in appearance. Grant was the younger man by sixteen years, and looked stooped and less imposing than Lee, whose erect figure, with hair and beard silver white, gave him a martial appearance.

Generals Discuss Terms.

The two generals discussed the terms of surrender, which were, in short, that the men were to be paroled and all arms to be delivered up as captured property. Lee nodded as Grant explained his terms and spoke of the benefit of peace. At the request of Gen. Lee, the terms were then written. As Grant wrote rapidly, he glanced at Lee, Lee's handsome sword, and added the words to his terms "This will not embrace sidearms of officers." General Lee was deeply touched when he read this addition. He finished reading, and stated that the cavalry and artillerymen of his command owned their own horses, and requested that they be allowed to retain them. Grant replied that he had not known this, and that he would instruct his officers "to let all the men who claim to own a horse or a mule to take the animals home with them to work their farms."

While the terms and the letter of acceptance were being copied, General Grant introduced Lee to the officers present. The conference ended about 4 P. M. in the afternoon. General Lee, shaking hands with Grant, left the room with his aide. As his horse was being brought, Lee stood on the step and smote the palm of his left hand with his right fist, as he gazed toward the encampment of his suffering army. He had the sympathy of everyone present, and as he rode away, General Grant stepped down the porch, saluted him by raising his hat, and all of the Union officers did likewise. Lee raised his hat respectfully, and rode off to break the news to the brave fellows he had so long commanded.

TO DETERMINE RIGHTS OF ADOPTED CHILDREN.

Washington, April 9.—One of the most interesting cases now before the United States Supreme Court is that which involves the rights of adopted children. The legal status of adopted children in many states is involved in the court's decision, which is eagerly awaited. The test case now before the court is brought by the twin daughters of the late General John B. Hood, who seek to share in the estate of the late Gen. T. McGehee of Mississippi, their father's friend and their father by adoption.

The contest is over the inheritance of real estate in Alabama owned by McGehee. The twins rest their claim on several grounds, one being that under the contract of adoption in Louisiana they became the sole heirs, as if they were the natural children, of McGehee's property no matter where situated. The Alabama federal courts, however, held that Alabama law determined the heirs of real estate in that state. Attorneys for the twins, in their brief, argue that the federal courts have made a "mere scrap of paper" of the Louisiana adoption laws.

The twin daughters of the late General Hood are Miss Ida Richardson Hood and Odile Mussion Hood Holland, now living in New York. They claim they turned over to McGehee in 1894, $8,600, their share of a fund created by voluntary contributions made throughout the southern states for the benefit of the children of General Hood. The relatives of McGehee assert that if the transfer of this money was a gift, it merely evidenced the generosity of the twins, and if a loan, merely created a debt against the estate, but in no way determined the legal heirs to the estate.

We desire to express our thanks for the kindness shown us by neighbors and friends during our hours of sorrow for our little son William, also for the beautiful floral tokens.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF WAVERLY CITIZEN

William A. Graves, a Well Known Resident, Leaves Home Thursday and Has Not Been Seen Since.

Waverly is all astir over the mysterious disappearance of a well known citizen, William A. Graves, who wandered away from his home in that city Thursday and has not been seen—by any of his home friends since. He had appeared to be in his usual health and his family and friends are at a total loss to account for his actions.

Thursday afternoon he went to the office of Dr. Wood and asked the doctor to take him in an automobile to Auburn, some twelve or fourteen miles distant. The doctor declined and it seemed to irritate Mr. Graves who went away without saying much but evidently displeased and this is the only strange thing about him as such conduct would be unusual for him as he is a gentleman of kind disposition and on terms of excellent friendship with the doctor.

Mr. Graves is described rather heavy set, weighs probably 200 pounds, has moustache but no beard, blue eyes and hair mingled with grey. He is about fifty years old, has a wife and two daughters at home.

He is a member of the Methodist Episcopal church in good standing and belongs to the Masonic lodge and possibly some other societies. He was a man of good standing in the community and had a good many friends who esteemed him highly. Some years ago he was night watch of the city and performed his duties in a satisfactory manner.

There seems to be absolutely no reason for the strange disappearance as it is impossible that he could have met with foul play and he was not a man who would have any occasion to get away from any improper reasons of any kind.

CRITICAL JUDGMENT

My head ached fierce while I was reading the latest work of Op-penheim; and weary of such mental feeding, I said, "Such fiction is a crime. His characters are merely spectacles, who through the tiresome chapters run; his dukes and diplomats and rectors are sawdust dummies, every one. A book should mirror human action, and show the author's studied men, if it would give me satisfaction—but this man wield's a trifling pen." One day when health again had found me, "I'll read that novel now," I said, for it, of all the books around me, was just the one I hadn't read. I found it then a four-time winner, a ripping yarn that hit the spot, and when they called me in to dinner, I answered, "Seat! I want it not! That man is capable of treason who'd leave a book like this to eat—the red-hot novel of the season, a book that simply can't be beat!"

SCHRAM

Boy or Girl? Great Question!

This brings to many minds an old and tried family remedy—an external application known as "Mother's Friend." During the period of expectancy it is applied to the abdominal muscles and is designed to soothe the intricate network of nerves involved. In this manner it has such a splendid influence as to justify its use in all cases of coming motherhood. It has been generally recommended for years and years and those who have used it speak in highest praise of the immense relief it affords. Particularly do these knowing mothers speak of the absence of morning sickness, absence of strain on the ligaments and freedom from those many other distresses which are usually looked forward to with so much concern.

There is no question but what "Mother's Friend" has a marked tendency to relieve the mind and of this itself in addition to the physical relief has given it a very wide popularity among women. It is absolutely safe to use, renders the skin pliable, is penetrating in its nature and is composed of those emollients best suited to thoroughly lubricate the nerves, muscles, tendons and ligaments involved.

You can obtain "Mother's Friend" at almost any drug store. The regular price is $1.00 a bottle.

It is prepared only by Bradfield Regulator Co., 501 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Avoid the many worthless substitutes. It should be remembered that what is said of "Mother's Friend" is the thought expressed by the thousands of women who have successfully used it and recommended it through two generations.

Cardui, The Woman's Tonic.

Cobden, Ill.—"Having used Cardui, the woman's tonic, in my family, for a number of years," writes Mrs. Kate Metz, of this town, "and always with such good results, I feel it my duty to write you about it, so that you may publish my letter."

My mother is living with me, and she is 52 years old. For the last three or four years, she has been troubled a great deal with cramping spells, and for days at a time, she would have a severe headache.

She read of how much Cardui has helped other women who were sick and ailing, and decided to give it a trial. She began taking it three times a day, and since then has been getting along simply fine.

Mother only used four bottles of Cardui, but she is no longer troubled with the severe headaches, and her stomach is so much stronger that she can eat most anything.

We both feel that any lady who is not strong and well, would be greatly benefited by the use of Cardui."

ECONOMIC LOSSES FROM PREVENTABLE DISEASES

SAID TO BE ONE HALF BILLION PER ANNUM.

States Are Paying For Disease
Among Men and Women—School
Teachers Should Teach Essential Facts of Sanitary Science.

(By G. M. Ives, M. D., St. Louis, Missouri.)
In a report on national vitality, Professor Irving Fisher, estimates that the economic losses caused by preventable diseases for the entire country is one and one half millions per year. The Minnesota State Board of Health in a recent estimate shows the economic loss from death from typhoid fever in Minnesota in the last six years to be $21,958,949 while the deaths from tuberculosis are six times as great and the loss three times as great as that from typhoid, making a total loss from two diseases $88,542,260 for six years, or an annual loss of $14,757,043.

Minnesota Figures.
These figures for Minnesota which were computed on a basis in which no human life is given an economic value greater than $500, show the yearly loss to that state from deaths from two diseases, typhoid and tuberculosis amounts to approximately $15,000,000. The total loss from all preventable diseases is certainly far in excess of this amount. The loss from preventable diseases in Illinois, because of its larger proportion, certainly greatly exceeds the loss in Minnesota.

What State Pays.
What is this state now paying for protection against preventable diseases? The Journal of the American Medical Association is authority for the statement that the appropriation in Illinois for the protection of fish and game for the current year amounts to $151,600. Yet the appropriation for the protection of 5,628,591 men, women and children in the state was for 1914 only $120,000, $30,000 less than was appropriated for the protection of fish and game. Are the lives of the citizens of less value to Illinois than the preservation of its quail and bass?

Other arguments for increased financial support for measures to protect human health and lives seem to be unnecessary. It seems to me that there can be no word of justification for the present meager appropriations for public health work.

Citizens Must Act.
Notwithstanding the necessity of certain financial support, great good may be accomplished by the initiative of the individual citizen. If every citizen would cease to maintain any of the public nuisances that I have mentioned, if individuals would practice the principles of personal hygiene, if local public officers would apply available knowledge of sanitation, the necessity of laws and appropriations would be less pressing. It is from education then that we are to expect some, maybe the most satisfactory results.

Let us consider briefly an educational program. In the first place, the truths of modern science cannot be demonstrated to you satisfactorily in every instance. When your agricultural authorities tell you that rust and smut of grains are parasitic diseases, that tuberculosis is a germ disease and that it is transmissible, that the Babcock test indicates the percentage of fat in milk, most of you believe that they are in a position to know positively and you accept their statements.

Likewise there are men of learning whose opinions on subjects of human diseases are equally reliable. Their statements are opposed; their program for human betterment is attacked on every conceivable basis.

As I have stated before you must look for guidance to your University, to your State Board of Health, and to your state department of education. They are your servants. Their only justification for existence is their ability to be of service to you.

Education Necessary.
There is much to be gained in an educational way by means of public addresses, the dissemination of literature, and the co-operation of the press. But I would place particular emphasis on the teaching, and practice of hygiene and sanitation in our public schools.

Before pupils can obtain the proper training in matters of hygiene teachers must be made acquainted with the subject, and the methods of presenting the should be suggested to them. State officers and local health officials should shoulder the responsibility of instructing all public school teachers in the elements and most essential facts of sanitary science.

Many a farmer thinks he can't afford power to help with the washing when the little stream in the pasture is fairly asking to be harnessed to the job.

The mother of small boys is never surprised at where she finds things. A Rockwood vase looks to a boy like a good place for fishhooks.

Furrows are better than trenches. Nearer to living's sweet core. The green fields of peace yield wiser increase.

SERVICE OF MEALS ACCOUNTED IMPORTANT HOUSEHOLD ITEM

Problem Should be Worked Out How to Serve Meal With Least Expenditure of Time and Attention—Some Hints From I. of U. Department.

(By Nina E. Crigler, and Cora E. Gray, Household Science Department, University of Illinois.)
Quite as important, not only to the pleasure of the meal but to the assimilation of the food, is attractiveness in the setting of the table and in the service of the meal. In a general way, these things are familiar to every woman but both deserve far more attention than they generally receive. It is well worth while for any woman to work out how the service of meals can be accomplished correctly and satisfactorily with the least expenditure of time and attention under the conditions of her particular home. The manner of service is determined by the occasion, the number of people to be served, and the availability of servants. It may be that the preparation of a meal, in addition to other duties leaves no energy for elaborate service, but in any case suitability of dishes and beauty of arrangement are possible. A very ordinary meal is extremely attractive if the table is well set, each food is in a suitable dish and the service is well organized, correct, simple, convenient and adapted to that particular meal.

Equipment for Table.
There is on the market today a variety of pads for the protection of polished tables. Asbestos ones, made to fit the table, are satisfactory but somewhat expensive. An inexpensive kind, made of two thicknesses of oil cloth faced together, serves as an efficient protector even for highly polished tables. The silence cloth is used to insure quiet service and to make the linen cloth smooth. It may be a quilted pad or heavy cotton flannel, or white felt bought by the yard and bound. Unless the table is highly polished, the silence cloth is sufficient protection. The table cloth should be of good quality, laundered without starch, carefully folded, and of sufficient size to hang over the ends and sides of the table about ten inches. Oblong carving cloths may be used under the meat platter to protect the table cloth. Dobbies should fit the trays. Plain ones are best because of the necessity of constant laundering. Napkins for formal dinners usually match the cloth and are twenty-four inches square; luncheon napkins may be less than half that size.

In very formal service, unusual floral decorations with elaborate china and silver may be used. High bouquets obstruct the view and make conversation difficult, but a low vase of flowers, gracefully arranged, adds much to the attractiveness of the table. Place cards may be the plain white ones sold as "calling cards," or they may be elaborately hand-decorated. The purpose of either is to avoid the awkwardness of attempting to seat several people at once and the necessity of any one person's carrying the seating plan in mind. Finger bowls of glass or metal are used whenever needed, as, for instance, after a fruit course. The bowl is set on a small plate with a paper or linen doily between. Small glass plates to match the finger bowls are attractive. Individual salt and pepper shakers may be used or several sets may be arranged convenient for two or more people.

Side Table Essential.
A small side table, or serving table with a shelf beneath, is a great help in service. It holds the silver, a reserve supply of butter, ice water, serving spoons, the waitress' tray, the plate and napkin or scraper for crumbing the table, and, in formal service, all relishes, plates or trolleys, and any additional supplies. The purpose of the side table is to facilitate the service by saving the waitress extra trips to the kitchen or pantry. The side board serves a similar purpose but usually is reserved for the silver and possibly plates of fancy cakes, leaving the serving tables for more utilitarian purposes.

MOTHER! IS CHILD'S STOMACH SOUR, SICK?

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give
"California Syrup of Figs."

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste. When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.—Advertisement.

MERCANTILE LAW BASED ON CUSTOM

ORIGINALLY BRANCH OF LAW
DISTINCT FROM COMMON LAW.

All Our Statutes Said to be Based on Custom Modified by Judicial Decisions and Legislation—Different Stages Are Treated—Final Stage of Development Under Lord Mansfield.

(By C. G. Vernier, Professor of Law, University of Illinois.)

In a previous article the origin of the chief forms of negotiable paper, viz, the bill of exchange, the promissory note, the bank notes and the check, was traced. No intelligent understanding of the rules governing these forms of commercial paper is possible without some slight knowledge of the part played by "the law merchant" in their derivation and development. All of our law is said to be based on custom, as modified by judicial decisions and legislation. In respect to some branches of our law the place of custom in its formation has doubtless been unduly emphasized. But custom is, in a peculiar sense, the basis of our law of commercial paper. This mercantile law based on custom has been, and still is, known as the new merchant. In its origin the law merchant was a branch of the law distinct from the common law. It was not enforced in the common law courts and did not exist for all the people as it does today. It was enforced in special courts and existed only for the benefit of the mercantile class.

First Period.
There are three rather distinct periods in its development. The first period begins at some unknown date, since we do not know the exact date when negotiable instruments were introduced into England, and extends to the year 1606, when Coke was appointed Lord Chief Justice of England. During this period the greater portion of English foreign trade, as well as that of all Europe, was conducted at sea ports and great fairs held at fixed times and places. At these fairs there were special courts to administer justice to the merchants who congregated there. These courts are referred to in the old books as the "courts popouderous" or Courts of "phy-pouder." These terms were derived from Normal French words meaning "dusty feet," signifying that justice was administered as quickly as the dust fell from the feet. There was apparently no cause to complain of the laws' delay in these courts.

Controversies between merchants were heard in an informal manner and settled on the spot. There were no law reporters and if regular reports were kept, few have been preserved or discovered. However, a few records have been unearthed by the Selden Society, so that we know the nature of the proceedings. Similar courts existed in the great sea-ports. The most interesting feature of these courts was that they heard controversies between merchants only. The law administered was wholly based on mercantile custom. This was not the special custom of England but the universal custom of merchants of all Europe. To sum up, this period was characterized by three features: first, elaborate special courts; second the courts were open to merchants only; third, the law administered was based on a custom existing over all of Europe and not special to England.

Second Period.
The second stage of development began in 1606 and extended to 1756 when Lord Mansfield became Chief Justice. In this period the special courts died out, and the law was administered by the ordinary Kings courts, which administered the common law. However, it was still administered not as common law, but as custom. It was still necessary that the plaintiff and defendant or at least one of them belong to the mercantile class. In every action it was necessary to plead formally that defendant became liable "according to the usage and custom of merchants." Old cases exist in which the defendant admitted that he signed the instrument, but was a gentleman, i. e. a man of leisure, and not a merchant. Such a plea was successful, strange as it may seem today, until in 1692 the Court of Appeal denied such a plea, saying, "If gentlemen accept bills they ought to pay them." This was obviously sound common sense, but a marked innovation upon mercantile custom. The law still being based almost wholly on custom, the court generally left the matter to a jury without instructing it as to the law. As a result the few cases reported rarely stated any rule for future guidance.

Final Stage.
The final stage of development began with the accession of Lord Mansfield to the position of Chief Justice. By his efforts extending over thirty years, mercantile customs were reduced to a system of rules and made an integral part of the common law. General principles were formulated, so that the jury did not decide each case upon their understanding for mercantile custom. Justice Buller has very properly called Lord Mansfield, "the father of our commercial law." From this time on, a great body of fundamental principles and detailed rules was rapidly developed, as an integral part of the English common law. Moreover the development was along distinctively English lines, so that today, the law of Negotiable Instruments in England and America is quite different in many respects from that of continental Europe. Hence from a body of law based on a world wide custom, but open to merchants only and administered in special courts we have derived today, a law open to all the people, administered in the ordinary courts, but differing in many respects from the commercial law of other civilized nations.

In a subsequent article will be described the tendency, now become almost universal to reduce this particular branch of the law to statutory form.

NOTES OF THE FARM.

A very satisfactory method for inoculating alfalfa and one that requires very little time and labor is to inoculate the seed before sowing. This may be done by thoroughly moistening the seed with a sticky solution made by dissolving a pound of ordinary furniture glue in two gallons of water, and then sifting over the moist seed fine dry pulverized alfalfa or sweet clover chaff, until the moisture has been taken up. A pound of glue in two gallons of water and 50 pounds of dry dirt will be sufficient to thoroughly inoculate three or four bushels of seed.

The seed should be piled on a tight floor or canvass and the solution of glue carefully sprinkled over the pile with a sprinkling pot, shoveling the seed over and over the while, until they are thoroughly moist but not sloppy wet. The fine dry dirt should then be carefully sifted over the moist seed, using a fine sifter so too much dirt will not be used. When the seed are thoroughly coated with the dirt and nearly dry, the work is completed. The seeding may be made immediately after the inoculation, but care should be taken not to expose the seed to strong sunlight. Sunlight will soon kill the bacteria. If the seeding is done on a bright day, a harrow should follow right behind. A cloudy day is the most favorable time to sow, but, of course, that is not always possible. Always possible is to collect some time before it is needed and dried in the barn away from the sunlight. After drying, all trash should be sifted out and the dirt finely pulverized. If care is exercised in sifting the dirt over the seed, very little loose dirt will be left and the seed can be sown in the ordinary way. This costs practically nothing and many mean the difference between success and failure. It is too important a matter to neglect.

As a pasture for growing pigs, alfalfa has no equal. The Iowa Experiment Station, commenting on the results obtained from pasturing spring pigs on alfalfa in 1911 makes the following statement: "The cheapest gains that have been secured upon any forage at this station have been made upon alfalfa. In the year 1911 alfalfa pasture in conjunction with a grain ration of ear corn plus 1 to 20 meat meal produced gains, when the market price of corn was 50 cents per bushel, at a cost of $2.98 a hundred pounds."

REVIVAL SERVICES AT MT. EMORY CLOSED

The revival services at Mt. Emory Baptist church have been brought to a close with pleasing results. The worthy pastor, Dr. Scruggs, has labored with unflagging zeal in the cause and has been assisted by other brethren who have well done their part. The result of the work has been forty additions to the church and there are to be thirty baptisms Sunday evening. Mt. Emory is one of the landmarks of the city and has a grand history. Rev. A. W. Jackson was one of the pioneers and among its members may be mentioned Benjamin Henderson, Jordan Duncan, David Spencer, Mrs. Sherwood and many others long since gone to their reward. It has done a grand work and a great future awaits it. The new pastor seems so far to be winning golden opinions and the hope of the many friends of the church is that he will have a successful pastorate here.

SICK, SOUR STOMACH, INDIGESTION OR GAS

"Pape's Diapiesin" Makes Upset
Stomachs Feel Fine in Five Minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapiesin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapiesin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapiesin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary. —Advertisement.

SAYS REPUBLICAN VICTORY IN CHICAGO WAS DUE TO LOCAL ISSUES

CHICAGO, April 9.—William F. McCombs of New York, chairman of the Democratic national committee, who stopped in Chicago today on a personal business trip to the west, expressed the opinion that the recent Republican mayoralty victory in Chicago was due entirely to local issues and would have no bearing on the presidential election next year.

"Local questions which have no significance on the general political situation are responsible for Chicago's election of a Republican mayor," he said. "I do not anticipate a defeat for the Democratic party in the next national election."

♦ TUBERCULOSIS POINTERS ♦

(From the Anti-Tuberculosis Bulletin.)

The facts about Tuberculosis are so gripping and so convincing that, if they were generally known, even the intelligent man, woman and child would become active in the crusade against the disease. So long as the facts are not universally known, education must be the fundamental and all-essential work upon which all practical achievement will be based.

Illinois Behind.
A year or two ago, in an out-of-the-way corner at the Illinois State Fair, there was a little exhibit devoted to Tuberculosis in Illinois. In this exhibit there was a map of the United States, showing by color scheme the activities of the various state governments in battling against this disease.

And on this map, Illinois stood out, a glaring island with a sea of color surrounding it. This meant that Illinois was alone among her sister and her neighboring states,—the only one in which there was no state provision for the warfare against Tuberculosis.

And this map is as good today as it was then. The conditions have not changed.

Sentiment Lacking.
It is an axiom, that public improvement does not progress more rapidly than the public demand. Strong public sentiment must precede successful governmental activity. Perhaps what Illinois lacks in its warfare against Tuberculosis is the public sentiment and the public demand.

A Live Subject.
When intelligent people know what can be done and what is being done in the cure and prevention of Tuberculosis, they demand prompt action. It is safe to assume that if the people of Illinois will interest themselves in the subject, Tuberculosis will become a live issue in municipal, county and state legislation in the future.

Educational Agencies.
Hence the anti-tuberculosis organizations throughout the State, must become primarily educational agencies. It is a difficult work and, at times, a discouraging work; but it is the absolutely fundamental and essential work. In the accomplishment of practical results,—the building of sanatoria, the creation of dispensaries, the employment of nurses—education may seem the "longest way round,"—it is certainly, "the shortest way there."

First Aid to the Wounded.

Paris, Feb. 11th: At almost every station on the railroads you will see men shattered and wrecked for life, men who must face the future horribly mutilated, and yet they accept their fate without a murmur of complaint or bitterness. It is the same in England, in France and, I suppose, in Russia, that all soldiers are bearing their sufferings with the greatest of fortitude.

The best aid these men have is within themselves. The human body will best resist infection from bullets when it is healthy, strong, active and with all of its functions fully alive and working. The best aid to this condition is a vegetable tonic and alterative that will first put the stomach and blood right.

For these are dependent on one another. Good stomach means good blood, and likewise good blood means good stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery helps the stomach to do its work naturally and properly, stimulates the liver. The system is freed from poisons. The blood is purified. Every organ is rejuvenated. This "Medical Discovery" of Dr. Pierce, is free from alcohol or narcotics. It is made from the roots and barks of American forest plants with triple refined glycerine, and is the best blood purifier, because it banishes from the blood all poison and impure deposits and carries them out, as it does all impurities through the bowels, kidneys and skin. If you have indigestion, sluggish liver, catarrh, uneasy nerves, or a pimply skin, get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery today and start at once to replace your impure blood with the kind that puts energy and ambition into you and brings back youth and vigor.—Advertisement.

WORLD'S MARKET NEWS

PREDICTIONS OF SHRINKAGE IN VISIBLE SUPPLY LIFT WHEAT

After an Early Decline the Market
Closes Firm at 3 to 2 Cents
Above Previous Finish—Corn
Trade Broadens Vigorously.

Chicago, April 9.—Predictions of a decided shrinkage in the visible supply total on Monday tended today to lift the price of wheat. After an early decline the market closed firm, 3 to 2c above last night.
Other leading staples, too, all scored an advance—corn 4 to 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 14c; oats, 4 to 5c and provisions
7 1/2 to 25c.

In addition to signs of a fading away of domestic stocks of wheat the outlook was for world shipments to become much smaller. Argentine supplies in particular seemed likely to be diminished to a serious extent during the remainder of this month. At the same time advice from abroad indicating that as a rule European countries had not yet obtained sufficient quantities of wheat to satisfy conservative requirements. Under such circumstances peace talk which had been an influence early on the of the farmers ceased almost to have any effect.

Showers in the dry sections of the wheat belt east of the Mississippi turned out to be lighter than was at first supposed. According to a leading authority the results of the deficiency of moisture in Ohio, Indiana, southern Illinois and Kentucky have become apparent in the lack of top growth. Shorts were active buyers of the later months as well as of the May option, which tightened in a manner that suggested something of a squeeze.

Corn trade broadened out vigorously. The strength which developed had lack of it a better cash demand and the fact that receipts had diminished throughout the west.
Rumors of export sales put firmness into oats. On the bulge, however, much profit-taking was indulged in by the longs.

OLD BURYING GROUNDS OF BLACK HAWK'S TRIBE FOUND

Farmer Uncovers Skeleton and Many Relics at Farm Near Sears, Illinois.

What is believed to be the old burying grounds of Black Hawk's tribe, has been uncovered on the farm of Benjamin Peterson, just south of the power house at Sears, Ill. A few days ago a skeleton was dug up. Yesterday Mr. Peterson turned up another skeleton which may be that of a red-skin warrior.
Same was nearly complete, the skull, lower jaw, breast, hips, thigh and shin bones being intact. The remains were only buried at a depth of 12 inches, and most of the relics he has found so far were not buried deeper than 14 inches.

The Peterson farm is located at the old council grounds of the Black Hawk tribe and the burial grounds apparently were laid out near Rock river. Recently Peterson uncovered a skeleton which was nearly complete. From time to time for several years Mr. Peterson has uncovered relics, and at the present time is the possessor of quite a collection.

One of the most interesting trinkets he has in his possession is a silver cross, possibly given to the Indians by the early white settlers.
The cross contains some inscription which cannot be made out. In addition he has numerous finger, wrist and neck rings, most of them being constructed of copper and brass, with knives, tomahawks, arrow heads and other relics. Saturday a knife was found with the remains of a warrior, but the instrument was so rusted and decomposed that it crumbled when Mr. Peterson touched it.

These late finds were made when Mr. Peterson began to dig an onion patch a short distance from the river. In this plot he is turning all of the earth over a depth of one and one-half feet and will probably uncover more relics before the work is completed. It was at first thought that some of the trinkets may have belonged to the early Jesuits, but as all the skulls recovered so far resemble those of Indians it is probable that they were given to the redskins by the whites.

OBITUARY.

The following obituary of John R.
Spires was published in Friday's Waverly Journal:

John R. Spires was born Oct.
13, 1835, near Franklin, and departed this life April 2, 1915, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Wells five miles south of Waverly, being 79 years, 5 months and 20 days of age.

"On the fourth Sunday in September, 1857, he united with the primitive Baptist church on the Man-terre, (called 'Saphur' Springs church), until 1867, at which time he moved to his farm in the southwest corner of Sangamon county, and then transferred his membership to the Head of Apple Creek church where he remained a faithful, humble and devoted member until death. He was a member of the Primitive Baptist church fifty-seven years and six months, having been ordained as deacon of said church in 1868 and served as clerk of the Concord association about forty years.

"On June 9, 1859, he was united in marriage to Sarah A. Weller of Macoupin county, and to this union were born four children, one son and three daughters. His son, Thomas J., preceded him in death several years ago; also his wife preceded him in death only fifty-seven days.

"Mr. Spires is survived by three daughters: Mrs. C. W. Taylor and Mrs. William Wells of Waverly; and Mrs. C. A. Sinclair of Litchfield; nine grandchildren, two great grandchildren, one brother, Harvey Spires of Franklin, besides a host of other relatives and friends.

"Mr. Spires lived in Talkington township, Sangamon county, from the spring of 1867 until the fall of 1907, when he moved to Waverly.
During the forty years he lived on his farm he was a useful citizen in many ways. He taught school for twenty years and never applied for the position. He was elected supervisor of his township and re-elected until he served four years. He served as assessor for seven years, township treasurer for a number of years and justice of the peace.

"Having known Mr. Spires for thirty four years, will say to his grandchildren just try to make as good and as useful a citizen as he was.

"In his death the church has lost a true and devoted member, although during his last days he did not get to meet with the church as often as he wished but remained firm in the faith of the primitive Baptist church. He was beloved by his neighbors and all who knew him; thus we lose an indulgent father, a good citizen and a faithful Christian gentleman.

"Funeral services were conducted at the Primitive Baptist church in Waverly Monday, April 5, at 11 a. m., by Elder G. W. Murray of Winchester, in the presence of a large company of friends and relatives, preaching from the text 'If a man
die shall he live again.'"

REVIVAL AT BROOKLYN.

The special music Friday evening at the Brooklyn church revival was furnished by Mrs. W. P. Duncan and Miss Mary Lindsey. They sang 'Rock of Ages' and 'Take Time to Think'. Rev. John Beadles preached from the text Proverbs 29:1 and took for his subject 'God's Alarm Clock or That for Which There is no Remedy.' The subject for the sermon this evening will be 'The Satisfied Life.'

Miss Catherine Kaiser of Alexander was a Jacksonville visitor yesterday.

NEW BOOKS AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Bacon—Beauty for Ashes. "This is the story of how a woman who was busily occupied with her own family life and social circle, stumbled upon the fact that in small cities and towns there are to be found ugly and degrading slums which most people suppose exist only in large and crowded cities. It told how she, one of the sheltered women, discovered in her own small city conditions that clamored for betterment; and how she with the aid of earnest women and men brought about that betterment, so that today her state, Indiana, is a model in its housing laws for all other states."

Croly—Progressive Democracy.
"A thorough, detailed analysis of the evolution and principles of American democracy. It is an attempt to answer the questions whether any substitute is needed for the traditional system and whether the recent progressive movement offers any prospect of meeting the requirements. Both these questions, the author, writing as a progressive answers affirmatively with entire candor and without prejudice."

Education.
Bailey—For the Story Teller. "A working text-book in the art and practice of story telling."

Fisher—Mothers and Children.
"By the author of A Montessori Mother."

Curtis—Education Through Play.
"Believes that the play problem of the school children is the chief problem of our cities."

History and Travel.
Dickinson—Appearances. "There is a graceful blending of travel pictures, the reflections and meditations of an experienced traveler and much suggestive criticism."

Sichel—The Renaissance.

Rent Fiction.
Bazin—Those of His Own Household. "The story of a well to do ing of personalities and strong wills has caused the separation of husband and wife. Their daughter a particularly charming girlish figure, brings them together again after years of loneliness."

ILLINOIS NEWS NOTES.

Brokers Are Sued.—Stockholders of the Adair bank, which failed last summer, have brought suit against a firm of brokers in Chicago through which Walter Sperling, the cashier, who lost the funds of the bank in speculation on the board of trade, placed his orders. Sperling lost $90,000 of the bank's funds and the stockholders made the loss good.

Increase in Elevators.—At the time the Illinois Farmers' Grain Dealers' association met in Bloomington in February there were 303 organizations in the state having 360 elevators. Since that time twelve new organizations have been formed, says Secretary A. N. Stein-hart, and many other communities have been writing about organization. The largest organization in the state is at Plainfield, in Will county. That company has seven elevators and is still growing.

Tourists Coming Here.—Information from the Chamber of Commerce of Colorado Springs received at the office of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday is to the effect that automobile tourists starting from Colorado Springs and Manitou, representing business and professional men, are about to leave Colorado on an eastward trip over the Pike's Peak Ocean to Ocean Highway, and that they will be in Jacksonville about April 21st. They will pass through Griggsville, Decatur, Tuscola, Hume and Christian.

Schnepf Filed Petition.—Mayor
Schnepf of Springfield stated yesterday that his attorneys, Edmund Burke, C. Fred Mortimer and Elmer
A. Perry will proceed immediately to file a petition in the court for a recount of the mayoralty vote. It may require a month however, for the necessary steps to be taken and the recount made. In the meantime, Mayor-elect Baumann will take his seat May 1.

Postoffice Second Class.—The Mason City postoffice is now entitled to the honors accorded offices of the second class and a new government building, city carrier service, added clerical help in the office are only a few of the advantages to be awarded the local office on account of having successfully, and with a good margin, past the requisite mark, $3,000.

A great part of the success of the local office is due to the enormous mail sent out and received by the big seed corn plants at this place, and the rural routes also come in for their share of the honor.

South Side Circle Meets

With Mrs. E. C. Carpenter.

The South Side Circle met Friday afternoon with Mrs. E. C. Carpenter of Hardin avenue. The members of the Pleasant Hour club were also guests and were cordially received by the hostess whose address of welcome found a hearty response from Mrs. Byron Gray. Mrs. Carpenter was the leader of the meeting who spoke on the subject, "Musical compositions of the present day." One of her young pupils, John Doku Morris played several selections from Jessie Daynor's book for beginners, illustrated points in her address.

Joyce Carpenter and John Morris gave a vocal duet and Byron Carpenter gave two violin selections. Mrs. Charles Rafferty read a paper on "My ideals of the present day music." Mrs. Julian Hall sang six numbers from modern composers.

One of the interesting features of the afternoon's program was the playing of Cloud Rhyner, a pupil at the State School for the Blind. He played the "B minor Scherzo" from Chopin and his playing proved popular to the members, who demanded several encores. He also explained the Braille system. The young man has a perfect ear for pitch and he gave some forceful demonstrations of his ability.

After the program refreshments were served the ice cream being moulded in the shape of musical instruments and flowers. Mrs. Treadway of New York City and Mrs. Ray Berry of Roodhouse were among the out of town guests present. The meeting was one of the most enjoyable of the year.

MR. DAVIES WILL SPEAK ON IMPORTANT SOCIAL PROBLEMS

Child Labor Legislation, Women in Industry, Diseases of Industry and Accident Prevention Will be Discussed Today at Library.

Important social questions will be discussed this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Jacksonville Public Library, when Edgar T. Davies, former chief factory inspector for Illinois, will speak on child labor legislation, women in industry, diseases in industry and accident prevention. Mr. Davies will discuss the place of Illinois in the path of social advancement, will call attention to defects and shortcomings and will point out ways in which Illinois women may help in solution of these vexing problems. Mrs. A. L. Adams, chairman of the civic committee and Mrs. Harrison W. King, chairman of the educational committee of the club, have arrangements in charge for the meeting. Club gatherings have been held heretofore at Academy hall and the new place of meeting is therefore emphasized.

A considerable part of Mr. Davies' talk will have to do with child labor, measures for the restriction of which have lately been incorporated in House Bill No. 194, better known as the new child labor law. Mrs. Adams when in Springfield last week to testify before the committee which had under consideration the child-labor and the eight-hour-for-women law, was impressed by the testimony offered among others by Miss Davis of the Chicago public schools.

The principal places where boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 16 are employed are at the box factories, in department stores as cash girls and boys, in engraving plants, knitting mills, laundries, book binderies, novelty shops, press clipping bureaus, and the like. Miss Davis said, as she started in on an arraignment of child labor.

"The work of these children requires no education and gives them scarcely any opportunity to learn a trade.

"When they get old enough to feel ashamed of doing a boy's or a girl's work they start out to look for other jobs and invariably they find there is no place for the unskilled, uneducated young man and woman. Many of these boys work as messengers with all the attendant temptations.

"Employers tell me they always specify that a boy shall not have athletics in college education brought out interesting facts and opinions last evening to the profit of Congregational brotherhood members, assembled for their April meeting in the church parlors. A supper was served at 6:30 o'clock under direction of Frank T. Irving, A. D. Fairbank and Lee S. Doane, chairman. "Our National Pastime" by Mr. Bancroft treated the game historically in general and made special reference to baseball in Jacksonville. Mr. Rammelkamp referred to the criticism often uttered against athletic sports—that they detract from study unduly. Abuses he admitted but good, he insisted, much exceeds the bad. He deemed accounts of accidents suffered in football grossly exaggerated and discussed athletics with direct relation to disciplinary value.

Social Club of Illinois College.

The regular gathering of the Social club of Illinois college was held Friday night at Academy hall. It was a masquerade party and dancing was the principal amusement of the evening. "Going to the Fair" was a playlet and the songs were original and good. The public auction also added merriment to the occasion and in the guessing contest, first prize, a box of candy, was won by Royal Davis. Light refreshments were served.

Surprise Party for Hazel Louise Fortado.

Miss Mayme Fortado of 611 Myrtle street, gave a surprise party Friday afternoon for Miss Hazel Fortado in honor of her eighth birthday. About thirty of the young lady's friends were present. Games were played during the afternoon and in the contests held Louis Douglas won first prize. Several readings were given by Miss Helen DeSilva. Delicious refreshments were served. The afternoon was a most enjoyable one for all.

Mound Women's Country Club Holds Meeting.

The Mound Women's Country club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. J. H. Caldwell on West Walnut street. The topic for discussion was "Our Food Producing Trees, Nuts and their uses." Routine business was transacted and after a discussion of the topic, Mrs. T. C. Graves read a very interesting paper on "Early Jacksonville." Two new members were added to the club, Mrs. George Gilbert and Miss Amanda Pfeil, which makes the total 35 and bids fair to reach the fifty mark by fall. Before adjournment was taken light refreshments were served.

Illinois College Dance.

Sixty students and friends of Illinois college enjoyed a dance last evening in the gymnasium at which was carried out a pleasant program of sixteen regular and four special dances. The event was in charge of the regular social committee.

PAPER CONCERNS TREATMENT OF BRITISH PRISONERS IN GERMANY

LONDON, April 10.—(2:55 a. m.)—A White paper concerning the treatment of British prisoners in Germany, has been issued here. It consists of a series of letters and documents and correspondence between the British government and Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador here.

The correspondence covers seven months and fills 87 pages of the "white paper." It purports to show that Germany systematically withheld information regarding the condition of British prisoners and even declined to permit an American diplomatic representative to carry out an examination of the war prisoners in Germany in a manner similar to that permitted by Great Britain.

Independent inquiry it was said had convinced the governor that the project was not wholly feasible. He is expected to make known his views in a formal statement after reviewing a final report by those who have been investigating the plan. This report, it was said tonight would be submitted to the governor within a few days.

CAPT. ED. HARLAN, NOTED SOLDIER, DEAD AT MARSHALL

Captain Edward Harlan, 77 years old, prominent in Illinois public life for many years, known to Illinois law-makers and officials for a generation and who served through the civil war as an officer under General Grant, died suddenly at his home in Marshall, Ill.

When Captain Harlan retired from public life five years ago he served as doorkeeper of the house of representatives, a place which he had held for several terms. He also served one term as sergeant-at-arms of the house, and represented the district in which he is located as state senator in 1870.

In 1894 he was the Republican candidate for congressman from his district, opposing Mr. Landis, of Mt. Carmel, but was defeated.

Captain Harlan had one of the longest and most honorable civil war records of any man in Illinois. As captain under Grant in the Twenty-first Illinois volunteers, he served through the war, giving up his commission five years after he had taken it. He was wounded twice during the course of the war.

When the G. A. R. was organized he became prominent in its affairs and had been department commander in the organization. During the administration of Governor John P. Altgeld he was appointed commissioner of the Soldiers' Orphans' home at Normal, and served through the Altgeld administration in that position.

SHIPERS PRESENT WITNESSES IN HEARING OF RATE CASE

CHICAGO, April 9.—Shippers who object to the proposed increase in freight rates asked by the forty one western railroad systems, today presented witnesses to W. M. Daniels, inter-state commerce commissioner, in the hearing of the western freight rate case. The testimony concerned freight rates on broom corn. The witnesses were dealers in broom corn, manufacturers of brooms and statisticians and testimony was largely in support of the contention that the present rates should not be disturbed on the argument that the railways' request for an increased rate is based on too high a valuation of the product and too low a tonnage per carload hauled.

AUTOPSY WAS HELD OVER BODY OF ANNA TRIMMER

Physicians of Beardstown Examine Remains of Woman Who Was Found in the Illinois River.

Was Anna Trimmer, the woman who was found in the Illinois river at Beardstown last October and for whom two men were held for her murder, drowned or was she killed and her body thrown into the river? That was the question Drs. T. J. Scherer and M. J. Palmer of Beardstown tried to determine at an autopsy over the body at Summit, Ill., where the remains had been buried. The body was found to be in a perfect state of preservation and the lungs were thoroughly examined. The result of the autopsy is being kept a secret, it is said, by the state's attorney.

At the March term of the circuit court in Cass county two men were tried for the murder of the woman, but the state's case suddenly collapsed when their chief witness stated she had given false testimony at the coronor's inquest and also before the grand jury. One man was freed and the other held in a statutory charge.
